FOREWORD

For various practical reasons the Galleries' Autumn Public Auction Sale has had to be limited to one session. But the length of a Sale should be no indication of the quality of the material offered. Quantity and quality have no numismatic equation, as the experienced Collector will long since have decided for himself. In this particular instance we feel we can point out that the Crown section, while relatively limited in scope, is really noteworthy for the exceptionally fine condition of many of the coins being offered. The great activity of the numismatic market during the last two years has made choice pieces very hard to find indeed. For this reason the wise Collector of the series listed in this catalogue would do well to look to his own holdings because it is not unlikely that he can better many of his specimens.

The Sale opens with two unusual consignments of Masonic Medals and "Jewels." The medals provide a most interesting record of a variety of Masonic Lodges, both in Europe and America, during the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century. Many of the Masonic Jewels, most of which are antique, have a great visual charm. They have all been catalogued by place and date of origin. An additional consignment of this material will be available in a future Sale.

The backbone of the Sale consists of a consignment of Crowns of the German States and Empire, Italy, the Papal States, Russia and Switzerland. In the German section there are some particularly attractive and rare double Talers in Gem Uncirculated condition. The Imperial series contains a substantial number of Brilliant Proof 5 Mark pieces of the States within the Empire. We can safely say that there are no finer Proof coins than those produced in Germany between 1871 and 1914.

The Crowns of the independent Italian States have been among the most sought after of the European series in recent years. In terms of numismatic technical excellence, however, there are few coins which can vie with the issues of the Roman mint. Papal Scudi often remind one of miniature versions of a great tapestry, so fine and intricate is the die work of the engravers employed by the Holy See. Over seventy of these pieces provide an interesting record of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century predecessors of the present Pontiff who will establish another great precedent for the Papacy when he visits the United States early in October.

The Russian section in the Sale also includes a number of choice minor coins. Nevertheless, interest must still be concentrated on the rare and splendid Eighteenth and early Nineteenth Century Rubles. Included among them are specimens of the sought after and attractive "Novodel" strikings of which the magnificent Double Ruble of Peter the Great is an outstanding example. The immediate male successors of Peter were certainly in short supply and rather overshadowed by the forceful personalities of the Imperial women. For this reason their coins are much sought after. There are no less than two fine Rubles of Ivan III and two of Peter III to be found here, all very rare because of the somewhat limited opportunity these Monarchs had to issue any coins at all. The group is fittingly brought to a close by the very rare Soviet Chinese Dollar issued ca. 1930.

The Swiss Crowns contain some attractive late Eighteenth Century coins and a substantial group of Shooting Five Franc pieces. They are followed by a large consignment of Gold Coins of the World, both hammered and milled. While some of this material is familiar, there are items of particular interest. Among these is a set of "Essais" of Monaco struck "piefort" and two very handsome 30 Ducati pieces of Ferdinand I and Ferdinand II of Naples. The Sale is concluded with a small consignment of more common modern Crowns and a nice group of English Maundy Sets.
